FIFTH GENERATION SYSTEMS, INC

Focused on the belief that customer input and satisfaction drive successful technology, Fifth Generation Systems is dedicated to providing you with the most powerful, intuitive utility software available today. And now we're going one step further to provide you with one of the most powerful interactive communication methods available today. We believe that your complete satisfaction with our products is highly dependent upon our uncompromising commitment to superior customer service and to customer involvement in the product development cycle. So we've opened up a new avenue of communication between us and our customers: The FGS Forum on the CompuServe Information Service.

Once you're a CompuServe member, enter GO FIFTH at any prompt to launch into our interactive network of information. All you need is your computer, modem, a phone line, communications software for your computer, and your CompuServe User ID number and password. Dial into the nearest CompuServe access phone number and enter the command GO FIFTH. Once you're in the Forum, you'll find a current Forum Map and other helpful information in our General Library.

We want you to join us in the Fifth Generation Systems Forum on CompuServe Information Service as soon as possible. The FGS Forum is an interactive network that links us and thousands of our customers throughout the world. You need to be there.

Our team of support, service, and marketing specialists is there now answering questions, giving information, distributing updates and fixes and learning what our customers want. You'll find us and other Forum members sharing tips, tricks, and experiences that will help you get the most from our products and your PC-compatible or Macintosh computer.

The FGS Forum is open to any CompuServe member. There's no extra cost to join the Forum. In fact, if you're not yet a CompuServe member, you can have a free Introductory Membership with a subscription to CompuServe Magazine, your own User I.D. number and password, and $15 usage credit by taking advantage of the offer at the end of this kit. Phone the toll-free telephone number or return the business reply card right away and have the membership mailed to you.

Security. Support. Service.

Any information or questions with regards to our products, security issues in general, virus protection, password protection, data transfer and data management, backup, and other data security issues can be at your fingertips. And all matters will be funneled through the correct channels, whether they be marketing, technical support, customer service or management to assure your total involvement in our product research and development cycles.
